Who are we?

We are CCLG: The Children & Young People's Cancer Association. We unite the children and young people's cancer community, driving collective action and progress. Powered by expertise, we work together to create a brighter future for children and young people with cancer.

We bring together the experts in children and young people's cancer through our professional membership, creating a powerful national network driving progress. Together, we shape better treatment and care — developing guidelines, sharing expertise, offering advice, leading groundbreaking research, and creating essential resources and education for professionals. Our collective expertise sets the standard, advising, influencing, and advocating for excellence locally, nationally, and globally.

Research is the key to better treatments, improved care, and potential cures. Collaboration is at the heart of our approach — bringing together the right people and organisations to drive progress and deliver real impact.
